ELOISE A. BIBB AND NOAH D. THOMPSON.

Two Interesting Persons Quietly United in Wedlock—The Bride an Author, Heiress and Social Settlement Worker of New Orleans and Washington, D. C.—The Groom a Prominent Chicagoan on the Personal Staff of Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee Institute—Both Prides Themselves Upon "Uplifting Service Rendered for the Race"—Bride Publicly Praised by Pres. W. P. Thirkield, of Howard University—Groom by Booker T. Washington.

Chicago, Aug. 1.

Miss Eloise A. Bibb and Mr. Noah D. Thompson were quietly united in wedlock Friday morning, August 4, by Rev. Father John S. Morris, of St. Monica Roman Catholic Church, in the presence of a few relatives and close friends of the bride and groom. The bride was born and reared in New Orleans, La., where, after graduating from the University of New Orleans, she taught in the public schools. Later, Miss Bibb spent two years studying in Oberlin College, after which she was graduated from the Teachers' College of Howard University and placed in charge of the Social Settlement work of the institution in Washington, D. C.

On the occasion of the dedication of the Social Settlement house of Howard University—after reviewing Miss Bibb's three years settlement work, President Wilbur P. Thirkield publicly said, among other complimentary things, that "She is a woman who has accomplished a hard task of colored settlement work by putting her heart in it and her life under it and wrought wonderful results. Beginning her work for the University with a few narrow cramped rooms in a small house, by her energy and sacrifice she has made a great building dedicated to the crying need of despairing mothers and children of Washington, which will ever stand as a monument to the devotion of Howard's true representative, Eloise A. Bibb, whose motto is 'Culture for Service'."

Mrs. Thompson is the daughter of the late Charles H. Bibb, who was born in New Orleans and served in the war of the rebellion. Mr. Bibb was associated in politics with ex-Gov. P. B. S. Pinchback, and was a great lover of his race.

For forty years Mr. Bibb served as Inspector of United States Customs and amassed a good fortune through his economy and business sagacity. At his recent demise he left real estate and other securities amounting to $75,000 to his only child and daughter, Eloise.

At present the groom is serving in the Executive Department of Tuskegee Institute as Circulation Manager of the many Tuskegee publications. For many years Mr. Thompson held a very responsible position in Chicago with the United States Express Company. While a resident here Mr. Thompson accomplished so many good things for the benefit of his race that a book recently published in Boston on the progress of the race devotes considerable space to his accomplishments and progressive nature.

In a recent public address in Chicago, Booker T. Washington thanked his vast audience for permitting Tuskegee to take from them so earnest a co-worker and lover of his race. Mr. Thompson is credited here with having accumulated a small fortune through his strict economy and careful investments.

The bride and groom left Chicago Friday afternoon for Somerset, Pa., to visit Master Noah Murphy Thompson, son of the groom, and grandson of Editor John H. Murphy, of the Afro-American. Before returning to their future home in Tuskegee the happy pair will visit Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Dr. and Mrs. George C. Hall entertained the bridal party at breakfast at their palatial residence, 3249 Wabash avenue, immediately after the ceremony.

LORD, HOW LONG?

(By Ralph W. Tyler.)

Never in the annals of crime has there been recorded a more brutal, more fiendish or a more ferocious crime than the burning alive of the Negro Walker, at Coatesville, Pa., last Sunday night. Wounded unto death, a mob of white fiends whose thirst for blood was greater than a starved beast of prey, dragged the Negro from the hospital where he lay, tied him to his cot, and then built a funeral pyre about which more than four hundred "white hopes" gleefully stood and listened, as if to music, to the crackling flames, smelt the burning human flesh, and watched their victim, writhing in agony, burned to his Maker. And all this on God's day, when a supposed Christian community is sending up prayers for the unrepentant.

In the earlier western days, when the untutored savage Red Men burned their captives to a stake while they circled around in the war dance or sat around in stoical silence, it was considered horrible in the extreme. But a few years later, white men, with centuries of civilization behind them, commit the same act. And must we call their act horrible, too? Worse. It is diabolical. The crime for which the Negro was burned—the killing of an officer—had a severe punishment provided. The law, and the authorities of law could have been depended upon to have given the Negro the extreme penalty. There is no opportunity for the Negro to escape legal punishment for his crime against a white. Sentiment, and the odds are against him, even in the courts of justice. Every time he is forced to drink to the dregs. Then why lynch?

These United States stood aghast when the ignorant, blood-thirsty Russian soldiers killed and pillaged the defenseless Jews at Kishineff. When the fanatical Turks, wedded to a near-pagan religion (Mohammedan), slaughtered helpless Assyrians thousands of miles from here, a country-wide protest went up. When the Spaniards butchered the fighting Cubans, government interference followed our outraged feelings, and our just protests against carnage and repine. Now, within fifty miles of where was signed, 135 years ago, the statement that "all men were created free and equal," and within three hours' ride from where "the Government at Washington still lives," a mob of "white hopes" as ferocious as ever was a horde of Russian Cossacks; as fiendish as ever was a Turkish battalion, and more brutal than ever was the legions under "Weyler the butcher," tied a poor, wounded, ignorant Negro upon his cot and burned him alive. We cannot excuse the Negro's crime, but though crime it was, how infinitely slight was it compared with the crime committed by his lynchers.

If white men with centuries of freedom and education, and prosperity behind them, and with everything in the future to sanguinely hope for, will, ignoring law, commit such fiendish crimes, how soon will it be until ignorant Negroes, pressed back to the last stand by a race prejudice more dreaded and more fatal than the white plague, and to which we have meekly submitted for years on years, will imitate the ferocious vices of their white brothers just as we have been, since slavery, trying, with God's help, to imitate their virtues. Coatesville's deed was so horrible, so discouraging, that we can but exclaim, "Oh Lord, how long?"

But dark and threatening as the lowering clouds may be, the good white men and women who believe in justice to all men, and who condemn crime, no matter by whom committed, form the silver lining which inspires us with hope, in spite of our fears.

great applause from the members the greatest number of tickets for the present. Mr. A. T. Boston, secretary excursion. In return Mr. McCoy surprised the board of directors, read an excellent report of the success of the league, in which he stated that the membership of the league was more than six hundred, with a cash bank account of $6,000. The league is composed of some of the best citizens in the District, including lawyers, doctors, business and professional men, and is reputed to be one of the strongest benevolent organizations in the city.

A very pleasant feature of the meeting was the presentation of a handsome bouquet of flowers to Chairman A. L. Jackson, by Mr. Howard Jackson, in one of his most witty productions, of which he is characteristic. Mr. John McCoy was presented with a handsome emblem by Mr. Aldridge Lewis, the president, for having sold
